You've spent years doing what you do best: researching, designing and developing your products. Now let us do what we do best: provide world-class warehousing, order fulfillment and customer care.

We deliver innovative and cost-saving solutions through our people, processes and systems that will enhance your brand and your business.

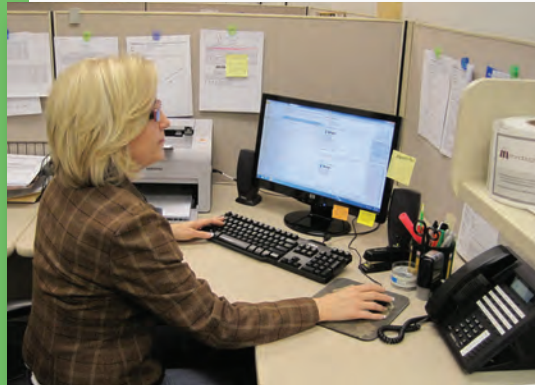

We do more than just pick, pack and ship.

Remar moves at the speed of retail, with the resources and expertise to provide the smartest solution for you.

Fulfillment distribution and inventory management

Anyone can ship boxes. But can they help your business grow? At Remar Inc., it's our mission to help you eliminate the distractions and expense of order fulfillment so you can focus on managing and growing your business. Remar is a leading national provider of inventory management and product fulfillment services.

When space is low, staff is thin and scaling operations for large or seasonal projects is impossible, outsource your product fulfillment to Remar. Remar lets you expand operations at a fraction of the cost to build your own.

From the very start, we gain a thorough understanding of your business, growth strategies and objectives.

We analyze your operations, strategies and goals, and learn about your customer base, competitive environment, industry trends, seasonal needs, packaging requirements and most importantly—what it takes to keep your customers satisfied.

Complete third-party fulfillment services

Getting your products to market requires the support of a reliable and experienced fulfillment partner. You need someone you can count on for quality and accuracy—day after day, order after order.

Remar is an industry-leading fulfillment and supply chain management company. For almost 20 years, fulfillment warehousing and distribution has been our core business.

We're uniquely qualified to meet every aspect of your fulfillment needs, combining people, knowledge and technology to offer a powerful range of solutions. Our approach ensures that your company will receive the service, support and strategy you need to optimize your business performance.

We make your job easier. By removing you from the complex details of providing product fulfillment, we eliminate the need for you to manage inventories, track packages, juggle shipping schedules and maintain systems. We become the invisible "backroom" for your customers, a seamless extension of your business.

Outsourcing your order fulfillment to Remar allows you to focus on your top priorities, and the core competencies of your business.

Remar gives you back the time you need to develop new products, create profits and deliver value to your customers.

Remar is your perfect outsourcing solution

Outsourcing enhances your company's profitability by enabling you to minimize order, inventory and warehouse expenses; improve your time to market; reduce shipping costs; lower capital investment and risk; and reduce staff and overhead costs.

- We ship to some of America's largest distributors and retailers every day. We'll run your program efficiently and seamlessly, with exceptional quality control.
- We have a local, highly-skilled, scalable workforce.
- Our expansive warehouse and flexible production capabilities enable us to quickly and easily configure our resources to meet any project requirement, so you can bypass expensive investments in new employees, equipment and buildings.
- Remar's experienced production teams analyze your project to determine the most efficient use of personnel and the assembly line configuration that will minimize costs and generate maximum output.
- Never worry again about managing seasonal spikes, auto-ships, expanding to a new market or developing a new product. We help you smooth out the peaks and valleys in the business cycle.
- From the moment your products arrive until they safely reach their destination, we use a proprietary, web-based Warehouse Management System (WMS) to provide you with visibility, reporting and event management. Our WMS delivers real-time information in a customized web interface where customers can view the status of incoming goods, outgoing shipments, inventory levels, a variety of reports, and automatic notifications of stock-outs.
- Freight costs can sometimes equal or even exceed fulfillment costs. Remar can keep your costs under control through expert freight management services. We ship thousands of packages a day and have contracts with every major U.S. carrier, including FedEx, DHL, UPS and USPS.

Distribution support

There's no margin for error in retail fulfillment. Product launches and sales won't wait! Your products must be delivered at the right time, to the right place, in the right way.

We're experts in the areas of national product rollouts, multiple drop shipments, inventory management and a wide array of other logistical support services.

Our large campus with 31 loading docks means trucks get in and out quickly. Most orders are processed in two working days or less.

We're also strategically located within a two-day shipping radius of 80% of the entire U.S. population, and our facility is less than one mile from I-40, less than five miles from SR-840, and less than 15 minutes from USPS's processing facilities at the Nashville International Airport, allowing for fast and efficient connection to all distribution networks.

Remar helps you reduce shipping costs, lower capital investment and risk, and reduce staff and overhead costs.

We're ISO 9001:2008 certified and have an exceptional focus on quality

Remar has invested time, technology and resources to implement proven, internationally accepted standards of quality in all its processes and systems. ISO 9001:2008 certification means that Remar has passed a certification audit that demonstrates its ability to consistently provide products or services that meet both customer and legal requirements.

With our unwavering focus on quality and continuous improvement, Remar clients know they can trust us to manage their products, and their projects, in the same careful way they would themselves.
